Ava Green has made a name for herself in the real estate world by reconditioning old, historical homes with her partner and friend Jeff. But her newest project, a three-story Victorian in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, promises to be her biggest moneymaker yet. And one she's undertaking on her own. During her first walk-through of the house, however, she discovers a locked door, and a skeleton key that seems to appear out of nowhere. Unlocking the door, she is transported to a mystical world of fae and mythickal creatures and meets the King of the Morna. The sovereign of the Dark Elves.

King Finn Sylcan has searched for the one who can bring the magick back to his world, Edra, for eons. An old prophecy told of a female of both Dark and Light elven descent, a hybrid both Calim and Morna. It is said she is the only one who can repair the damage the war between the Dark and Light kingdoms caused. But after searching for so long, Finn never dreamed that she'd just show up outside his palace walls. Or that she'd be his mate.

Lia Davis is one of my favorite romance writers and she is such a great author. I loved reading her Ashwood Falls series and this book has become another favorite. If you like Elfin romance you won't be disappointed. Reading her books will make you feel as if you have escape into another fantasy world. The characters are exciting, sexy and strong. Ms Davis allows you to share their highs and lows. Her books allows you to make new book friends. I love the magic in their life. The storyline is magical and heartwarming. But the story is full of suspense, twists and turns. I absolutely enjoyed reading this book. I couldn't put my tablet down. It's compelling from the first page to the last page. Take it from me the characters are engaging, fabulous, sexy, witty and fantastic. The dialogue is passionate, realistic, and you will love the interaction between the main characters, the chemistry between the main characters is so scorching hot! This is a awesome starts to a another great series. I received a copy for my honest review. I want to give you just a small taste of this must read.

She opened the door again and let it swing wide. Holy crap. There really was a forest in one of her upstairs rooms. Well, she had asked for the earth to swallow her. She laughed at her attempt at a joke and stepped through the door. Once she crossed the threshold, the door vanished behind her. Whirling around, she scanned her surroundings. Nothing but trees, bushes, and a whole lot of nature. The house was gone. Everything was so green and full of life, almost magical. I'm definitely not in Georgia anymore. A howl like she'd never heard before cut through the trees in the distance, followed by shouts. Then the sound of horses' hooves pounding the earth grew closer. Her heart jerked to life, beating rapidly as the howls and gallops got louder, nearer, moving in on her too fast. She was trapped like a rabbit on a fox hunt. She just had to know what was behind that door. "Charles. Heel." The deep boom of a command came from behind the animal and sent a chill up Ava's spine. Charles backed off but only enough for the man to step into her line of sight. Ava's heart skipped a few beats as she stared at him. Long, black hair that appeared green in the sunlight cascaded over his shoulders, framing a beautiful yet masculine face. Heat rolled within her abdomen, spreading to the rest of her body. Desire filled her mind, dizzying. The urge to touch him was strong, almost too strong for her to ignore. What the ahah was wrong with her? "Who are you?" The man loomed over her, arms folded, revealing the most unusual markings tattooed on his forearms. His words shocked her out of the haze. Glaring at him, she mimicked his crossed-arm stance and asked her own question. "Where am I?" He narrowed his gaze on her, but she swore there was a hint of a smile on his lips. Like he approved of her attempt to be brave. "Answer my question first."

This is a Must Read. There is lots of romance and it's Scorching HOT, You don't want to miss this book! If you are looking for a Spectacular paranormal series to read, then you want to read this series. This is a great book to add to your TBR list. I'm so excited about reading the next book in this series. I Highly Recommend this Book.

If you believe in the world of paranormal romance, the possibilities are endless and fascinating!

Ava Green purchased a huge three-story Victorian home for herself for her newest project against advice not to. When she finds a door that she can't seem to open she comes across a skeleton key that allows her access but when stepping across the threshold she finds herself walking into a mystical world of fae and mythickal creatures and meets the King of the Morna.

Royal Enchantment is one of those reads that for me simply suffered from what I like to refer to as the novella syndrome. The story was one that was interesting enough of a fantasy read but it felt as if it's all on a fast forward speed all the way throughout which means it tends to lack details and depth that would make me truly love the book.

Ava's character was only give a brief glimpse in our world before she jumps into the fantasy world. She had received some news about her business and partner that I felt you'd get to learn more about or simply about who she was but it dove straight into the rest of the story before the blink of an eye. Then when it came to the actions in the fantasy realm it again felt rushed to get a lot of events involved in a fairly short read.

In the end this one was 3.5 stars for me. Not a bad story overall though but I would warn if you try this one out to not expect too many details or depth and just enjoy the short read.

Another story that feels like it's just a rough draft. I liked what I read - mostly - but there just wasn't much of it. I literally read this in less than 45 minutes. It's just... sigh it could have been such a great story with a bit more effort.

Elizabeth Neal says

Ava is going to flip. No literally, she just bought a house, sight unseen, that's been empty for years, and she plans on fixing it before selling it. Her business partner, Jeff, thinks she's crazy but she needed to buy this house. Yeah, okay, that does sound a little crazy, but...reasons.

As Ava is exploring the new house, bought with some of her inheritance, she gets two surprising calls. First, Jeff has cleaned out their business office and pulled a disappearing act. Well, maybe not quite as the second call, from his soon to be ex-wife, Alice, informs Ava that Jeff has died. But don't feel bad for Alice as it didn't take her long to clean out Jeff and Ava's business account. Hey, everyone grieves differently, right? side eyes Alice

If only Ava could escape reality and not have to deal with all this right now...Huh, what's this key open? Oh that door, that's locked and driving me nuts? inserts key And now I'm in a forest...today's earworm shall be - A Whole New World Well, at least in my head that's what Ava was thinking.

Finn, upon seeing Ava helps her take a trip to Never, Neverland are you now singing Enter Sandman by Metallica? I am...don't care if it shows my age. LOL, with his elf magic as Ava refuses to cooperate. Gee, Finn, you think she should just jump at doing as a sexy man, err strange man, says?

Finn immediately realizes two things about Ava. Nope, I'm not going to tell you what they are. Well okay, since you begged. LOL Yeah, one isn't a secret as it's in the blurb...she's his mate. The other one? Read the book.

As Finn and Ava talk, Finn tells her about his people and their history, and Ava learns some things about herself she never knew. Although it does explain some things about herself.

How will Ava handle this revelation about her family? Will she accept that Finn is her mate? How will she handle being the queen? Can she accept her destiny, her future? How will Ava adapt to this new world that, while magical, is also not as up to date with technology as Ava is used to? Can Finn and his loyal personal guard, Kellam, keep her safe? What is the story behind Jeff's actions and death? Can Finn stop his Uncle Quinn before he succeeds with his evil plan? Is Ava the only hybrid out there? Will Finn and Ava get their happily elfin after? I could not resist doing that. LMBO.

One-click this book now. It's an interesting twist on the paranormal world and I liked it. It's a short story with some twists and turns that both Finn and Ava will have to navigate without losing their way or their lives.

*You can see this full review and more at Book Briefs: <https://bookbriefs.net>*Royal Enchantment is part of the Skeleton Key book series. I really love the set up of this series. It is a group of almost 30 authors, each one writing a book featuring a skeleton key that unlocks a secret world. But all of the books are vastly different. Different themes, different age groups and different sub genres. I just love that idea. So whether you like young adult, new adult or adult, you will be able to find a book for you. If you want to know more information about the series you can check out the website dedicated to the books.

Royal Enchantment is an adult fae novella by Lia Davis. A woman buys a new house, and unlocks a door to another land within it. The whole thing felt like an adult version of The Chronicles of Narnia, and I loved it. It is a novella, so I blew through this one really quickly, and I was left wanting more. In the coming weeks I am going to be reading and reviewing a handful of the books from this series. I am not sure if all of them are going to be novellas or not, but I kind of hope some of them will be full length stories, because that was my only regret with Royal Enchantment. I wanted more time with the characters.

If you love fae books, Royal Enchantment is one that you will want to check out. And further, the skeleton key series is one that I would recommend to all fans of fantasy and magic stories. I think you will be hard pressed to not find at least one of the books that appeals to you. I particularly love that there are a mix of age groups in the series. Something for fans of clean YA and adult alike.

I quite liked it at the beginning, even though it wasn't great, I could feel it was well thought-out but toward the end, I wondered if the author thought the more is merrier and my enjoyment of this story disappeared into nothingness.

I received this book as an ARC for an honest review.

I enjoyed reading this book. It's a story about a battle with dark and light elves. Yay I love books about elves. Ava (our heroine) stumbles into a whole new realm and discovers she is an elf and not only that but that she is fated to be mated to the king and help restore peace and magick to the realm. Ava and Finn(our Hero) have an insta attraction and Finn knows right away who and what Ava is. Ava takes a little bit of convincing but they soon find out what they can do together and how much love could be between them.

I loved the journey. I love all things paranormal and I especially love elves. The realm in which this book is set up in is magically beautiful. Ava can do and experience so much more in this world and it was fun to see her learn her new home.

Solid 4.5 stars. I will defiantly be reading the next one and many more from Lia Davis.

Marta Cox says

This is an author who for some reason I always associate with Shifter stories so it was with great delight that I spotted this novella which features Elves. As I understand it the Skeleton Key series will be up to thirty standalone books written by various authors . Each adventure starts with the turning of a key and it just so happens that in this story we are led to a land of fading magic , waiting for that one person who can set it free but for Ava what lies on the other side of the door is a huge surprise!

Ok I won't go into lots of details because the synopsis is quite clear and also it's a novella so it would be terribly wrong to give too much of the story away. Yes it's a romance but thankfully no instant lust, yes we get mutual attraction and that little thing known as chemistry but there's no getting jiggy straight away. The couple have a lot to contend with as Ava is a thoroughly modern miss but when we meet her she feels lonely and only really has her work . Now from the beginning we know something is very wrong there and indeed it's briefly touched on later in the story but as it's not a full length book there's unfortunately just a lack of information. What does work for this reader was the introduction of a character that I wasn't expecting. Proof positive that nature versus nurture isn't always a sure thing but I really liked that it wasn't predictable. Another plus for me was the authors take on how to punish wrong doings at the end and for me there couldn't have been a better method.

So my final thoughts are if honest I really wanted more but having said that I'd happily read more from this author and hope she ventures into stories featuring the Fae again soon. There are so many Vampire and Shifter books that those such as I who enjoy paranormal are always looking for something different . I was gifted a copy of this via Netgalley in exchange for an honest review

Finn has a firecracker on his hands where Ava is concerned that girl is sure going to liven things up for him, "together we'll make everything right again." She stretched up and kissed his lips softly . " I'll stay and be your Queen as long as it takes for us to grow annoyed with each other and one of us has to kill the other." I enjoyed this book,and can't wait to see what happens next in this series.

Katherine Paschal says

Ava made the choice to buy the old house despite her business partner's unhappiness. When she finds a key and the mysterious door inside the old house, Ava never expected to enter a different world. When the Dark Faerie King Finn finds the stranger in the woods, he instantly knew how important she is, to him and to his world. Can Finn convince Ava of the truth before it is too late?

I liked this story, I just really wished that there was more. I could have easily read a full length novel set in this world with these characters, and I really feel like there is the potential for even a series with all different characters. I was impressed with the backbone of this novella, it was surprisingly detailed in the world building aspect. I think that the characters were not incredibly well detailed and the plot had a few holes or was just way to rushed/abrupt (the ending!). My usual complaint with novellas holds true, that either the plot or the characters are impacted by the length and I saw that here (not in the way that I was not engaged, but in the respect that I felt left hanging, like I was missing something). The book does have an insta-love thing going on, which I am not a fan of, but I can overlook it for the most part because of the whole fate/bonded aspect.

That being said, I feel like the author was able to create such an engaging world in so few pages (50ish as per my eReader). I would love to read more by this author. This was my first taste of this author's writing style and I am definitely a fan. I am highly entertained by this Skeleton Key series and the whole concept of multiple authors writing snippets that somehow interconnect. This is my second in the series so far and I can't wait to get my hands on the rest.

I'm not royally enchanted by this book.

The blurb sounded really good so I thought why not. What with a skelton key and paranormal/fantasy I couldn't wait to sink my teeth into this book.

I thought that this would have been a full length novel and there is a lot of pontential to have turned this into a full length novel. It felt rushed as there was so much going on.

The heroine just happens to buy a house, with a door that will not open per conincidence she then finds the skelton key to unlock the door. This door leas to a forest where oh once again per coincidence she meets the Hero of the book. She is there to save the kingdom as there is a seer had a prediction that a hybrid could restore balance between the kingdoms. No probs get that. But..... suddenly there is a second hybrid. No, can't believe it. That is the time where I stopped reading.

Oh one more thing. A world that is like no other especially not like the human realm yet they have broccoli? Yeah dumb thing to be annoyed about but I can't help it.

This is an extremely delightful paranormal fantasy complete with a secret realm and other worldly creatures. The characters are very easy to follow and found myself swept away on their quest. It also gives the reader food for thought on possible side stories such as Kallums strange shape shifting abilities or possibly what happens to Sana. Needless to say it has all the elements to hook a reader like me in as well as keep me on the lookout for more in this series! I don't usually give a summary of the story since that can be found on a jacket. This is a very easy read and should totally satisfy any needs for a quick PNR fix! This voluntary review is based against an advance copy.

This is the kind of book I usually enjoy. I just love fantasy, fae, romance... Pretty much everything that is said to be found in this.

Now, don't get me wrong. Royal Enchantment does include all of that, but turns out that this is a novella and, to me, everything felt rushed. There was just so much content and information to be shared, but not enough pages for the whole story to be told. I think that, had this been a full book instead of a novella, I might have enjoyed it a lot.

The plot is very interesting, we have this whole new realm that's connected to the human world, and there are many different creatures to be found. There are also two kinds of elves, the Calim and the Morna (who are not exactly the best of friends), and our heroine is a hybrid between the two, the one people have heard of from the prophecy, a young woman who is supposed to bring back the "magick" to Edra.

The romance seemed very sweet, but, again, very rushed. Finn and Ava have just met, they're mates, and they need time to get to know each other while also trying to bring back the "magick". I just didn't get enough time to believe they were really in love.

I think this had a lot of potential, but it was too short for me to appreciate it all.
