New York Times-bestselling team Andy Griffiths and Terry Denton invite readers to come hang out with them in their 104-Story Treehouse—the eighth book in the illustrated chapter book series filled with Andy and Terry's signature slapstick humor!

Andy and Terry live in a 104-story treehouse. (It used to be a 91-story treehouse, but they decided it was still missing a few things.) It has a never-ending staircase, a burp bank, a deep-thoughts thinking room, Mount Everest, a mighty fortress reinforced with extra-strong fortress reinforcer, and a money-making machine (that also makes honey!).

When Andy has a toothache that hurts so bad he can't write any jokes for their new book, Terry knows just what to do: buy a Joke Writer 2000™ to write the jokes for them! All they need first is some money from their money-making machine and then it's off to the store. It's a foolproof plan—a Terry-proof one, even!

What could go wrong?

Praise for Andy Griffiths and the Treehouse series:

"Anarchic absurdity at its best. . . . Denton's manic cartooning captures every twist and turn in hilarious detail." —Publishers Weekly, starred review, on The 13-Story Treehouse

"Will appeal to fans of Jeff Kinney and Dav Pilkey. . . . The wonderfully random slapstick humor is tailor-made for reluctant readers. . . . A treat for all." —Booklist on The 13-Story Treehouse

What's more to say? Another fantastic and fantastical journey with Andy and Terry and their amazing treehouse. Adventures seems to fall out of the branches and onto these two. A multi-read book!

Dynamic Duo Andy Griffiths and Terry Denton's hugely successful treehouse series has collected quite the cult following. This is reflected in this latest and the eighth instalment of the series, which has sky rocketed up to the top of the bestselling children's book charts. A quick scan of the charts also reveals that the previous editions of this series also feature heavily. It is safe to say that The 104-Storey Treehouse is the most anticipated children's book of 2018.

Further expansion to the popular treehouse, devised by author Andy Griffiths and illustrator Terry Denton, has occurred. The amazing treehouse now stands at 104 storeys tall. This time around the zany adventures continue. Readers can expect to discover joke writing pens, money making machines, bun fights, a massive toothache, a never ending staircase, some burping fun and plenty of bears! Follow Andy, Terry, Jill and the mean Mr Big Nose for yet another wacky adventure. Just try not to get tangled up in the wild escapades of The 104-Storey Treehouse!

There was much excitement in my household as Mr 8 and myself welcomed the brand new treehouse adventure, which marks the eighth in the bestselling series. There is no denying the popularity of these books, readers eagerly await the next issue in the series every year. Andy Griffiths and Terry Denton are a winning combination. With Andy's finesse in the writing side of things, Terry Denton takes care of the illustrations. These two work in harmony, so what always arises is one fantastical adventure!

What really worked for us with this particular instalment was the use of the jokes included at the bottom of each page. We looked forward to each new joke, they were hilarious! We were pleased to share around and add these jokes to our repertoire. What an extra fun touch to an already funny read!

Content wise, The 104-Storey Treehouse is packed full of slapstick situations, sticky fixes and ludicrous binds that Andy, Terry and Jill must negotiate. It all turns out in the end, despite the looming threat of Mr Big Nose and after quite the adventure. A sneak peek page of the next book, The 117-Storey Treehouse, is sure to incite plenty of excitement for next year's release.

The 104-Storey Treehouse is guaranteed to be a big hit in classrooms and family homes across the country.

We made it! To the Top! For now at least. Roll on July, 2019...we both can't wait!!

Alicia Brookes says

I love these books!! :) If you haven't read any of Andy and Terry's treehouse books, I highly recommend you do!! They're such fun, quick and easy reads!

4.5 stars

Pat says

Over the top humour with jokes at the bottom of the page and fantastic illustrations make this a joy for young and old.

Fraser MacPherson says

Amazing one of my favourite books

Alison Condliffe says

This book was better than I expected. It is actually carefully structured, all the rooms mentioned at the beginning of the story in the tree house are utilised by the end of the story. My students love the illustrations, jokes on each page and main characters. This is another hit in my classroom.

Sam Young says

2 and a half stars actually

Surely no one older than 8 should read this. There is just too much going on. The story and language is very basic but most older reluctant readers wouldn't read this either - it's just too busy. Anyone with dyslexia, ASD, ADHD etc' (neurodiverse) would find this book distracting. A busy story with busy pictures and jokes on every page to distract.

But, it's obviously a popular series and anything that gets a child reading is worth reading.

Bingeworthy Book Blog says

My son, Kaden (age 9) says:

"I love how each new book has more levels to explore, characters to meet and adventures to go on. This series is one of my favorite because it's for all children, boys and girls and there are lots of books in the series but you should read them in order.

My favorite part in the book is when Andy and Terry were trying to make money from the machine and it got stuck on honey. It was funny! I would give this book all the stars!"

Matthew Hodge says

So it's a story about two guys trying to extract a tooth so that they can two dollars from the tooth fairy, which is the last bit of money they need to buy a $2 million dollar joke-writing pencil.

Despite being eight books into their bestselling series, Andy Griffiths and Terry Denton are nowhere near running out of crazy ideas!

Dennis C says

This book the 104 storey treehouse it is a really cool and a good book with laughs and also suspense. Also, The treehouse series you really do not have to read the whole series because every single book has different and unique stories but just every time they just add extra 13 storeys to every new or out coming book.

So this book would be my first choice for little kids or maybe also primary to secondary people because some words might be a little hard for little kids but still the best book I ever read.

Lloyd Mackenzie says

AS a kid, there was nothing more exciting than visiting a friend's house only to find they had a treehouse. Having one of those bad boys made you instantly popular among your peers. You were literally the king of your own castle and held dominion over your subjects. Okay, maybe it wasn't all that grand, but that is exactly how it felt.

The next book in this series follows the daring duo as they try to not only pen their own novel but cure Andy of his serious toothache. What children will enjoy is searching each storey and page for the ongoings of the treehouse's residents. Each level includes some wacky contraption, from the tangle storey, the fridge-throwing storey and the honey money maker storey.

Another plus is that at the bottom of each page there is a question and a joke answer. Children will find these hilarious. Adults will see them for what they truly are, bad dad jokes.

What Andy and Terry have created is a series of treehouse novels spanning eight books and two spin-off fun books for children between 9 to 12 years. After giving this book a read, I would recommend it for a much younger target audience. It would be perfect to read to your five-year-old child before bedtime and something that kids from seven to nine should be able to pick up and enjoy on their own.

The English is simple, the pages are packed with detailed and wacky drawings and there are hidden gems on each storey the duo visit.

Jordan Pupkovski says

5 stars is an understatement.

The new treehouse book is probably structured the smartest and the drawings are over the top. The relativity feels so close to home and is powerful.

James Gui says

It was ok could be better
