No Regrets Kassanna

Azia Clemmon's husband has been on deployment for a little less than a year. On a whim she agrees to go out with a girlfriend. While at the club her girlfriend leaves and Azia is left to her own devices. Feeling empowered, wearing a little black dress, she decides to spend her night out on the town.

She meets a man and sparks fly.

Jase thought he was surprising his wife when he came home without telling her. He was the one in shock when he discovered her gone. Unsure what to do, he goes by the local club for a drink. That's where he saw her. It was wrong, he was a married man. She was a married woman. That didn't stop the desire that rocked his body for her. One night was all he asked for.

Come morning they would both have to go home and all they had promised each other was no regrets.

Stephanie says

A great short story that has you smiling at the end.

Sara says

Yea, very nice quick read. Surprised in the end even though I kinda suspected it.

Auhmanduh says

Honest review. Don't expect much from this book (which is why it's free on B&N).

I think maybe people were expecting a lot from a 65 page story.

This SHORT story is about a man who see's a woman at a club, follows her back to her hotel where she takes in the R&B show put on by the hotel.

to put it bluntly, both of them are married and they have a fun time back in her hotel room.

I actually found this story really cute.

Mona says

A little predictable, but cute, nonetheless.

Ha, bad editing, outdone mediocre plot, unbalanced characters. Yupp sounds like a free read to me. The only reason I gave it 1 1/2 stars was because the male lead and female leads (who's name I really can't remember) were okay...

Mspraise50 says

Nice short story. Nice little twist at the end which I figured out during their intimate moment.

So, how do you review a 25 page book? That was my question to myself when I opened this. But, it was a very enjoyable, sweet book that I wished was a little longer.

No Regrets is a short story about military families and how they feel why their “men” are away. The loneliness and heartbreak when the call. But, No Regrets was especially about the love that carries they through and how they react when they come home.

I was pleasantly surprised with this short read. It made me smile and reminded me that our soldiers overseas are not the only ones suffering.

So, if you are looking for a really quick read just to lift your spirits, pick up No Regrets. Azia and Jason are too cute a couple to not recommend this book.

Hasien says

This is a cute story.

Beckey says

This a book I recommend for those who like erotica romance book. A wife goes out with her friends for sometime away. Her husband a military career and has been away for a year. Stopping here with a review cause I don't want to be a spoiler on this fabulous read which is a short story containing 65 pages.

KBeautiful1 says

I can always count on author Kassanna to knock it right out if the ball park with her exceptional writing. A great story of Jase and Azia

Rita says

This was awesome. Short but perfect. While reading you are thinking, don't do it, don't do it. Too much investment. I would definitely recommend this quick read, which happens to be absolutely free!

Freebie from Evernight Publishing.

Lisa says

Excellent short story, cute and sexy with a surprise ending. :)

Tony says

This short is really just like another short by Zena Wynn, but, there are enough differences between the two to tell them apart. It's very short but definitely enjoyable.
