Rhonda says

This is a very uplifting book. It reminds me of God's love for me. It also helps me to remember the importance of keeping God first in my life. This is just the type of book you can pick up and read and it will remind you that God should be your first priority.

Lisa says

A little book of quotes from both the bible and famous authors/ people to inspire and comfort believers. Little fortune cookie snippets of faith.

Ashlee Carter says

Very inspiring and something brief to read.

Kim says

Quick read. Many good bullet points and matching verses for quick pondering.

Glenda says

Good thoughts

I read this as part of my daily devotions. Loved that it answered questions with scripture. It is worth the read.

Kate says

This 'devotional' was really short (even though it lasted 101 days). All there was to it was a scripture verse or a short note about faith from the author. I have found that I prefer my devotionals to have a little more meat to them, but if you like short-and-sweet, this is definitely something you might enjoy.

"101 Faith Notes" by Pauline Creeden is a nice collection of scriptures, motivational quotes, and wisdom. It's short but worth a read for the guidance it provides. It also has some bonus teasers of some of her other works at the end of it.

? BookAddict ✍ La Crimson Femme says

This was just a teaser. I liked many of the 101 notes. The one that struck me most was that a person does not eat only once or twice a week. Instead, they eat several times a day. This means that going to church once a week is not enough. I need to eat God's word daily. Food for thought.

Lisa says

I got this for my Kindle, and I enjoyed the evenings reading it. It's a really good resource for being more hopeful, positive, and closer to God. It includes prayers, thoughts, and bible verses about love, thanks, hope, praise, and comfort.

Stephanie Waterhouse says

A short booklet form with inspirational quotes from the Bible and words of wisdom/encouragement from the author. I can see this as a witnessing tool to share with unbelievers or new believers.

Not bad, and useful to have the WORD handy without having to search the Bible to share with others.

I think I would have appreciated this more had it been in aesthetically presentable package. Didn't practically like the format, but content helpful.

The intro to other works seem promising.

Recommend...sure.

you declare with your mouth, "Jesus is Lord," and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved. For it is with your heart that you believe and are justified, and it is with your mouth that you profess your faith and are saved. (Romans 10:9-10)

2.

Adversity and loss can often become the rudder by which our life is steered to come closer to God. We re-prioritize and discover what really has importance, and what remains shallow and unworthy of our time and energies. ~~~ 30. That is why I am suffering as I am. Yet this is no cause for shame, because I know whom I have believed, and am convinced that he is able to guard what I have entrusted to him until that day. (2 Timothy 1:12)

3.

For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord. (Romans 8:38-39)

We are busy trying to replace God: heal ourselves, make ourselves feel better, comfort ourselves, or solve our own problems. We become divided in our attempt to serve ourselves and God. This is all idolatry. ~~~ give me an undivided heart, that I may fear your name. But you, Lord, are a compassionate and gracious God, slow to anger, abounding in love and faithfulness. (Psalm 86:11) ~~~ 37. For by the grace given me I say to every one of you: Do not think of yourself more highly than you ought, but rather think of yourself with sober judgment, in accordance with the faith God has distributed to each of you. (Romans 12:3)

The Humble man lets God lead. He understands that he is not God and God is the one in control. He realizes that he cannot solve his own problems but looks to God for help.

We are not strong enough to solve all our own problems much less everyone else's. ~~~ 10.

We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ (2 Corinthians 10:5) 11.

There are only so many hours in the day and we only have so much energy. If we spend our resources on things that are unfruitful – that bring us down instead of raising us up, we won't have the resources necessary in order to help our fruitful branches bear more fruit. ~~~ 13.

Let us always praise His name - in times of joy, in times of tribulation, in times of sorrow, in times of victory, and in times of defeat. When we feel the most depressed, the farthest from God - let us praise His name, even when we don't FEEL like it - because the sounds of God's people praising God makes the powers of darkness tremble, and gives us victory even when we feel defeated.

Quotes are inspiring and motivational.

Christy says

I chose this book because I enjoy anything that expresses God's mighty, undying love for us. Overall, I liked the book, but one thing that sticks in my mind is that we do not eat once a day or so, there we cannot or shouldn't scatter our time with God. We need Him in our lives, he feeds our spiritual appetite and so much more. I recommend this book. It is a very quick, brief read, but one I feel others will enjoy.

Linda says

It includes quotes from the Bible and interesting thoughts. The subtitle seems to be "Scriptures and Meditations on God's Promises", which accurately describes it if you understand meditations to be thoughts or contemplations. Like another reader, the following thought stood out: "You do not eat only once or twice per week. If you did, how much strength would you have? So don't think that going to church on Sunday or reading a chapter or two of the Bible per week is enough. Just like you have to eat every day, you have to eat God's word every day, too."

Audra says

The book fulfilled my expectations. The author appeared in the book as a narrator. I did enjoy the book because it expanded my mind when it comes to my own faith and spirituality. It was on par and better in some ways than other books in this genre. I was pulled into the book.

The author's presence was very fitting and appropriate. The themes are faith and religion. They were the focal point of the book. It ended exactly how I expected.
