From Reader Review The Fourth Floor: An Account of the Castro Communist Revolution for online ebook

Karen says

I think everyone should read this book. It's written by the ambassador to Cuba in 1957-59 and is a real inside look at how the State dept operated/maybe still operates. This book and the book Day of the Dead written by the then aide to the ambassador in Vietnam in the early sixties go together and left me feeling fairly cynical abt how and why things happen in Washington.

John says

The first 100 pages of this book were a 5 but then the author got into too much detail. He wanted to be sure that the reader knew that he did everything possible to prevent Castro from coming into control of Cuba. He also wanted all to know of the 150 plus million dollars which americans had involved in two ventures in Cuba were in danger of being lost if Castro came to power. I think that was his main interest. He told his side of what went on. I think he wrote this for the Wall Street readers. Even after saying all of this ,I want to make it clear that I agree with most of what he wrote.. I knew of the forth floor and all they wanted to be was the 5th floor.
