Dead End Jon Schafer

The Final Book in The Dead Series:

Trapped in the Happy Hallow Insane asylum by thousands of the dead, Steve, Heather, Tick-Tock and the rest of the group search for a way out. With tens of thousands of reanimated corpses also coming towards them, time is running short as they plan a way to get Cindy, a ten-year old girl that is immune from the HWNW virus, to safety. She is their only hope for finding a cure to the disease that reanimates the dead into beings that are compelled to eat ravenously and crave human flesh, and she must be saved at all cost. When what is left of the dead weight that the group rescued from the Battleship Texas realize that it is a life and death struggle, they join in to fight for the group's survival. But will it be enough? With a deadly landscape to cross, they will need help. Bandits scour the country as they search for food, fuel and firearms to stay alive, and the military is breaking down. The group may have reached a dead end...

Mark Heath says

What a great book, and a great end to the series, it is a shame it had to stop.

Awesome read!

I been a fan since the beginning and enjoyed how the story unfolds. Would have like to know what happens to Grimm and the Thing twins. Great job Mr Schafer!

Kim says

Enjoyed the final instalment of this series as I really wanted to find out what happened to the characters - this has been a good story throughout, which hasn't run out of steam throughout the four books. I would probably have rated some of them higher but couldn't due to the constant problems with the editing ('puss' for 'pus', character Tick-Tock occasionally being called Tick-tick [but he didn't go off!], the HWNW virus changing to H1N1 and back again etc.) - all four books could do with a good bit of proof-reading - 8.5/10.

Well done

Jon concludes the series in an awesome fashion. Had me flipping pages until I reached the end. Good job Jon!

Great End to a Great Zombie Series

I would recommend this series to any avid zombie apocalypse reader. Keeps you interested from the beginning! I just wish there were more.
