Face of Betrayal

While home on Christmas holiday, a seventeen-year-old Senate page takes her dog out for a walk and never returns. Reporter Cassidy Shaw is the first to break the story. The media firestorm that ensues quickly ensnares Federal Prosecutor Allison Pierce and FBI Special Agent Nicole Hedge . . . who happen to be Cassidy's best friends. It appears the young page was romantically involved with a senator, who is now under suspicion for her disappearance. As time begins to run out for the missing girl, Cassidy, Allison, and Nicole fight to locate her before it's too late, even while each fights her own battles—a stalker, single-motherhood, and an abusive relationship.

Hand of Fate

Outspoken radio talk show host Jim Fate dies tragically and dramatically when poisonous gas fills his recording booth while his show, “The Hand of Fate” is on air. In the ensuing panic, police evacuate downtown Portland, leaving Nicole Hedges trapped in a high-rise building. Cassidy Shaw is the only journalist brave enough to report from the scene as chaos overtakes the streets. And Allison Pierce must rescue a child separated from her family even as she escapes the danger herself. In the days following Fate's murder, the Triple Threat Club teams up to piece together the not-so public life of Jim Fate in order to uncover the truth of who killed him—and why.

Heart of Ice

Elizabeth Avery could easily be the girl next door. But what she has planned will make your blood run cold. At first glance, the crimes appear random. Arson. Theft. Fraud. Murder. But these are moves in an increasingly deadly game. And the one element they have in common: a woman who is gorgeous, clever . . . and lethal. She's a master manipulator, convincing strangers to do the unthinkable. And she orchestrates it all without getting too close. Until now. When Elizabeth ruthlessly disposes of an inquisitive young reporter, her crime catches the attention of Allison Pierce, Nicole Hedges, and Cassidy Shaw. They know they're dealing with a cold-blooded murderer who could strike at any time. What they don't know is that they're already on a first-name basis with the killer.

Eyes of Justice

When one of the Triple Threat is murdered, all eyes turn to justice. Together they're a Triple Threat to be reckoned with. A force that has solved the toughest mysteries. Until a ruthless killer finds a way to isolate and murder one of these three. When the authorities keep the survivors at arm's length, the women's desire for justice goes into overdrive. They find an unexpected ally in a quirky private investigator named Ophelia. Yet just as the police appear to have the killer in custody and justice is within sight, the murderer strikes again. Not knowing whom to trust, the team must engage in a deadly game of cat-and-mouse where nothing can be taken at face value . . . and nothing will ever be the same.

Laura Poppenwimer says

This collection of stories seem to be a rip off of the James Patterson Women's Murder Club series. In these books three women, one lawyer, one reporter and one FBI agent are involved in solving crimes usually involving murder. The books are not written very well, not as interesting as the James Patterson books which seem to have become very proforma, the same plot over and over again, but the bad guys names are changed. This collection follows the same blueprint. I really don't know why I plowed though all of them, I guess I don't like to be a quitter and hoped the plot would get better as it developed.

I will comment on each of the four books, one at a time.

Face of Betrayal: I felt the ending was kind of out of place but liked that there was a twist. It is a good story. I would rate this book at a 4.

Hand of Fate: Well, two things. I liked the first series I read more (Mia Quinn) but I still really like this one and second, I think in an ideal world I would wait more time between books. I felt a little like there were a lot of similarities between books in this series so far. However, I am going to forge ahead with book 3. I would still rate this 4 stars.

Heart of Ice: This book is my least favorite book so far. Too many psychopaths for one book. I also did not like that Elizabeth/Sissy seemed to be the main "narrator" of the story. So creepy. I also did not like that there was no real mystery--I was just waiting for the characters to figure things out. I scan-read to get through it faster. So I would rate this 2.5--scan-reading is an automatic 2 and I am throwing in the .5 for extra measure.

Eyes of Justice: Wow, did I ever not expect this! I stayed up way into the night/morning to finish this. This was sad and sobering. I would rate this 3.5.

These average to 3.5 for the series.
