The book is hilarious!!!! and hard to put down... the mmails between harry potter, gred and forge, oliver wood etc made me laugh so much that people thought i was crazy...

Awesome book which one should read, you cannot resist it... It's free!!!

rivka says

Absolutely the most hilarious Harry Potter fic ever. If you read only one HP fanfic ever, this should be the one!

Edwin Kort says

Grappige fan-fictie, echter alleen voor de volwassen tovenaar.

Emelie says

This is a fanfic from Harry Potter, focusing on the Golden Trio era. In this slight AU story the wizards and witches of Hogwarts and the Wizarding world has something called Mmail - magic emails. The story revolves around Fred and George Weasley during a magical, binding Truth or Dare lost a bet so the whole Gryffindor Quidditch team have to played their upcoming match against Slytherin naked.

I think that most of the stuff is quite out of character. I don't think any of them act, write or respond in the way they ought to. That said, it was fun following the mmail interactions and I liked how forward and assure Ginny was portrayed.

It was a nice past-time to read this story, and it has been such a long time since I read any kind of fan fiction that the humour and nostalgia made me award the story with a 3 star.

Completely hilarious Harry Potter fanfiction. The correspondence between the characters discussing what's going on is great. Especially the one by Professor McGonagall that starts the whole thing off. This being fanfiction means it's not for everyone so read at your own risk.

Not drarry, as previously mistakenly tagged, but that's not the problem.

- supposedly a fun, humourous read but all I could think of was: yaaaawn
 - totally OOC
 - dnf

One of the only fan fictions that I've read and actually enjoyed!

Everything from the format to the story and personification of every character did things for me.

I love this. Could not stop laughing, and got a few new people to read and love it as well.

Just superb!

Nina says

If you've got it, flaunt it, in the words of the wise Snuffles.

Now, aside from the fact that I would've given both my arms to be able to witness that match, this might very probably be one of the most hilarious things I have ever read.

We have a generous helping of naked Quidditch players, brotherly "love" among the Weasleys, a very aggressive Ginny, Moldiemort t-shirts and, um, a rather lusty Minnie (this might have scarred me permanently). I don't think it could possibly get any better.

I swear, I finished this ten minutes ago and I still haven't stopped bursting out laughing at random moments.

Anyhow, this fic also has a strong positive message about overcoming fear. I promise! Nevermind the way it's delivered...

Julesmarie says

Seriously adorable. From the titles of the Mmails to the names they give themselves and each other in the mails, to the Moldiemort robes, there was so much to enjoy here.

Since I've been reading mostly Drarry fanfic lately and Ginny's not very highly looked upon in those stories, it was refreshing to see her as the hilarious, tough, brave girl who stands up to all of her big brothers.

Very fun.

Eileen says

tingling.
