This book is about a teenage girl named Lizzie McGuire who has a crush on a boy at her school named Ethan Craft. Ethan wants to have lunch with her for the first time. But a mysterious kid arrives at that school the same day she is going to have lunch with him. And it turns out it is her brother. She goes crazy when she finds out that it is her brother and he embarrassed her the whole day. And told her crush bad things about her and lies so she looked totally humiliated. Part two of this book is about a marriage project in social studies. And of course Lizzie wanted Ethan to be her husband but instead her husband is her best friend Gordo. And Miranda her other best friend is with her crush. Lizzie went to get a smoothie at Digial Bean when she caught Kate Sanders the queen bee of the school trying to cheat the project and switch husbands to Ethan but they both got caught and humiliated at the same time from their spouse at the marriage reunion at the end of the week.

it is about a new kid

Maybe I'm just biased, but I had fun reading this one.

This book is just like the tv show but better because you could read it over and over again. If you did not understand something you can reread it.

Sarah Crawford says

The first story again revolves around Matt causing problems. He catches the wrong schoolbus and ends up at Lizzie's school where he begins telling one lie after another. For some reason the students believe his lies and end up thinking he's really cool and sort of famous.

This interferes, of course, with Lizzie's plan to have lunch with her love-interest, Ethan. Eventually things go too far and Lizzie calls the police who haul Matt out of the school but the other kids think that having that also done is cool.

There is no doubt that Matt has serious behavior problems. He also seems to have absolutely no concern about anyone but himself as it never occurs to him that his parents might be worried about his not showing up at his proper school.

Based on episode 14, Lizzie's Nightmare.

The second story in this book is about a social studies project where the students are "married" and have to work out the details of their lives together, then attend a pretend 20th anniversary reunion and talk about how their marriages worked.

One of Lizzie's friends is paired with Ethan, while Lizzie is paired with Gordo. Things take a bad turn when Lizzie finds out that Kate and Ethan are scheming to embarrass Miranda during the reunion. Lizzie finally manages to warn Miranda after Kate dumps her pretend-husband in front of everyone, and Miranda rises to the challenge.

An interesting story. I can see where such a thing would make an interesting social studies or home economics project in a real school. The whole thing is about working together, both in a marriage and in the school project, and Lizzie spends so much time worrying about Ethan and then about Miranda that she doesn't work as closely with Gordo as she should.

Based on episode 9, "I do, I don't."

Lizzie finally gets asked to lunch with a guy she has liked for a really long time. He says that he wants to introduce his new friend to her too. His new friend ends up being Lizzie's little brother Matt. Matt gets popular in under a day and Lizzie doesn't like it very much.

This book was just a fun book to read. I recommend it to anyone that loves old Disney shows and likes to listen to brothers and sisters fight.

Ioana says

Lizzie McGuire by: Terri Minsky.

Lizzie's brother got in trouble and missed his bus and got on the wrong bus and he had to go to Lizzie's school, he was acting like he was a famous person and did a movie with “Steven Spielberg”. Lizzie didn't like the fact that Matt went to her school.

In part two Lizzie's class had to do a project on marriage. Everybody had to have a partner, females had to have a male as their partner. Lizzie was hoping that she'll get Ethan Craft the total hottie of the school, no, she got her friend Gordo, and her friend Miranda got Ethan Craft. Lizzie was shocked, each couple had to have a career, Gordo was a trash man, Lizzie was a lawyer, Miranda was a house, and Ethan Craft was a doctor.

One day Lizzie saw something really bad, she saw Kate and Ethan together, Kate was so popular, she loved Ethan as much as Lizzie did. Kate's husband was Larry the nose picker. On the day of the party Lizzie had to tell Miranda that Kate and Ethan was going to plan to leave Larry and Miranda. Miranda didn't believe it because she thought that Lizzie was jealous of her just because she was married to Ethan Craft. Turns out it was true that Ethan was going to break up with Miranda, later that night the three friends were talking on the phone, Miranda said, “I can't believe Ethan was going to break up with me, Gordo kept nagging about him being a trash man so Miranda and lizzie played a prank on him, so lizzie and mirandia hung up the phone on him, it's important to you and I to have good friends around to watch out for your back.

Hira Shahid says
