From Reader Review A Montana Born Christmas for online ebook

Janine says

I previously read all of these books individually. I thoroughly enjoyed each and every one of them. All are set in the small town of Marietta, Montana and features a happily ever after for each story. They can be read on their own or in the order they come in. Each story is individual even though some characters might be referred to in other books. If you love cowboys and country life, this is the book for you. Add all of the wonderful Christmas cheer and you have a great group of stories that will keep you entertained.

Sandi Ramirez says

A wonderful boxed set of 8 books totaling over 900 pages all together all about Marietta, Montana and of course All about cowboys in some form or shape.

Each book is written by a different author but I promise you, you would think one author wrote them all. This artists authors (Yep that is my new term for authors who write like this because there is an ART to this) must all be drinking the same coffee when they write because these books do indeed bring the magic of Christmas alive for all. Great book!

PS ALL the authors who wrote a book in this collection are such great authors to read. Pick anyone and you would be so happy...heck pick read from each one and you would be in heaven!

Bonnie Gonzales says

Wow I have read all the books in this Anthology and each one is worth more than a dollar so to get them all for less than a dollar is a wonderful bargain and they are ready to get you in the Christmas mood.

Christmas at Copper Mountain will tug at your heart strings, and its by Jane Porter you can't go wrong.

A Cowgirls Christmas by CJ Carmichael The Carrigan girls get rocked by the secrets one of them finds in their mother's old diaries.

And Come Home For Christmas, Cowboy by Megan Crane is a real differant Christmas story with some of the dark not all sweetness and light side of life, reach for the tissues but keep reading, its an emotional journey but so worth your time.

I recommend this Anthology to adult lovers of romance.

I read all of these books individually and love them all! Its a great deal to get you in the Christmas spirit Christmas at Copper Mountain by Jane Porter

Christmas at Copper Mountain was probably the best novella i have read to date! There was so much emotion dealing with loss, acceptance, and healing, especially at Christmastime. It read like a full length novel and didn't leave me asking questions.

Come Home for Christmas, Cowboy by Megan Crane

I Loved this book. It is a story of two people reconnecting with one another over Christmas and the up's and downs of there life. Christina and Dare have been unhappy together for the last year and a half. So the morning after her 30th birthday she packs up her belongings and heads home to Marietta Montana. Little does she know Dare follows her home to win her back. While pretending to still be in love both of them realize they made mistakes and grow into a better couple.

A Cowgirl's Christmas by CJ Carmichael

A Cowgirls Christmas was a great book. There was so much emotion wrote into it that really drew me in. I enjoyed all the family secrets being revealed. In the previous books Callan always stood out as a gruff tomboy so I liked seeing this completely different side of her. I felt like Court made a good addition to the family and was good for Callan to make her open up and learn to be vulnerable. The Carrigans of the Circle C series has made me a fan of C.J. Carmichael's work and I'm Looking forward to more by her.

A Cowboy for Christmas by Katherine Garbera

Mistletoe Wedding by Melissa McClone

A Sweet Montana Christmas by Roxanne Snopek

I really enjoyed A Sweet Montana Christmas. Melinda and Austin have been separated for a month when she unexpectedly shows up at his family's farm. Both of them take responsibility for the mistakes made in their marriage. Both look at running the family farm as temporary until they start making friends with the locals and the animals. I liked that this book wasn't predictable like most other books are. It's a great addition to the Montana Born Christmas series.

Blame the Mistletoe by Dani Collins

Her Mistletoe Cowboy by Alissa Callen

Wow! Think you'll need a little help getting into the holiday spirit?? I can't think of a better way than with this amazing collection of holiday stories. Each one will leave you smiling and with a true sense of what the season is all about. I highly recommend you grab this collection now!!

Christmas at Copper Mountain by Jane Porter - 5 stars - Wow....this is a wonderful heartwarming story of love and hope. Two very sad and lonely people, each suffering their own life loss, come together to help each other heal. Beautifully written with great characters.

Come Home for Christmas, Cowboy by Megan Crane - 5 stars - I loved this incredibly beautiful story! Christina returns to Marietta, her marriage in shambles, she just needs to be home. When her husband Dare follows her she is shocked. He's that one that has been withdrawn and cold for more than a year but he wasn't willing to let her go. As the season goes on, the dark truths and concerns Dare holds come out but to save his marriage he will have to learn to deal with them and let them go. I highly recommend this one! It's a great read.

A Cowgirl's Christmas by CJ Carmichael - 5 stars - A great wrap up to the Carrigan stories. When the domineering and cold father of the Carrigan family unexpectedly dies and he leaves the ranch to a stranger, Callan's world is turned upside down. After years of trying to win her father's approval, long buried secrets are discovered which explained a lot of her father's anger. Her unexpected attraction to the stranger is unsettling and she tries to ignore it. You definitely want to read this one as well as the other books in this series.

A Cowboy for Christmas by Katherine Garbera - 4 stars - A fabulous second chance story that will warm your heart and make you believe in Santa all over again. Fifteen years ago Anna left Marietta - no ran. When she did she left Carson Scott heartbroken. Now she's back and Carson wants her...all in but can Anna stay or will she run again?

Mistletoe Wedding by Melissa McClone - 5 stars - The Bar V5 has a new employee and ranch foreman can't help but notice. Only problem, she has a daughter. He's done the child raising thing when he had to raise his sister after his parents died so he has a hard fast rule. No kids, ever! Now he just has to hope his heart got the message! You definitely want this one on your holiday reading list.

A Sweet Montana Christmas by Roxanne Snopek - 5 stars - Loved it! This is a sweet story of a couple who have run into a rough patch in life basically losing everything and trying to find a way to make it through, together. Wonderfully written, it's a great story of hope of love for the holiday season.

Blame the Mistletoe by Dani Collins - 5 stars - A wonderfully heartwarming story that was a great light read. With her daughter away with her father for the holidays Liz Flowers agrees to stay in Marietta to house sit for her ex's mother (weird). At a holiday party she runs into her ex brother-in-law and their attraction is immediate. An interesting story twist and one that is beautifully written.

Her Mistletoe Cowboy by Alissa Callen - 5 stars - Loved it! So glad Rhett finally got his HEA. When Ivy Bishop shows up on the Rose Crown she is just looking for a little peace and quiet to heal from a very bad breakup. But sexy neighbor Rhett Dixon has her brain going a little crazy and thinking maybe being alone is all it's cracked up to be. When Rhett bought the land surrounding the Rose Crown he vowed to turn over a new leaf and live up to his mother's expectations, after all he had promised her on her deathbed that he would. But the tempting Ivy Bishop is making that hard! This is a great story filled with the hope and love of the holiday season and new beginnings for two great characters. Couldn't put this one down.

Denise Stout says

I love the books in this anthology--they are sure to get you into the Christmas spirit.

My review will focus on Christmas at Copper Mountain:

This is a touching Christmas story which warms the heart.

Harley takes a job at a ranch in Montana to escape the trappings of Christmas. Three years prior she lost her husband and children in a plane crash and holidays are too hard. Brock lives with strict rules and lost his interest in Christmas, despite raising two children on his own after his wife died when they were babies.

Harley wins over the ranch hands by being herself and doing things her way, which seems to go fine until Brock's kids arrive unexpectedly. Harley's first thought is to bolt--she can't handle kids, because she loved being a mother--but life has a funny way of warming the heart. Harley helps Brock to see he needs to be a more demonstrative father to his children, and Brock and his kids push their way into Harley's grieving soul. As Harley and Brock start falling for each other, they realize there's a little bit of Christmas magic, and a guardian angel pushing them to find a new life, and love together.

Jean says

I read each of these stories as they were released individually. To get all of them together in this set is a great deal on some great stories. Below are my reviews from a few of the stories included in this collection. I loved all of the stories, but in the interest of keeping this review from becoming a book of its own, I am just selecting a few at random.

Christmas at Copper Mountain:

This is a wonderful holiday story. I laughed, I cried, very well written. The author did a wonderful job pulling me into the story.

Harley left California to take a temp job as a housekeeper at a ranch in Montana to get away from family for the holidays. For her, holidays were depressing because three years earlier she lost her husband and kids in an airplane accident. Retreating to a remote Montana ranch was supposed to be just the get away she needed. Brock, the owner of the ranch, had a loss of his own. After his wife died he was left a single dad of twins. What happens at the ranch between Harley, Brock, the kids, and even the rough-around-the-edges farmhands will definitely make you believe in the miracle of Christmas.

Come Home for Christmas Cowboy:

Dare and Christina have been married for awhile. He came from a highly abusive family and he has been slowly pushing Christina away. She finally has had enough and leaves him, going back to her parents' place in Marietta for Christmas. But Dare follows her.

This was a very emotional story. Is everyone able to be fixed or are some people just too damaged to ever have a happy relationship themselves?

Christina's family was great - especially her dad and her uncle Jason. Sometimes Christmas miracles can happen.

Mistletoe Wedding:

Meg is a single mom newly hired at the Bar V5 ranch. Ty is co-owner of the ranch and after having raised his sister after their parents died, vows to never be a parent again.

I loved the way Caitlin and Noah's wedding at the Bar V5 got me in the Christmas spirit already. Meg was a wonderful event coordinator and an even better mother. She is someone I could definitely be friends with in real life. I really appreciated how honest Ty was with Meg in regards to not wanting a family. But then again, never say never. This was a very sweet and heartwarming story. And yet again I'm finding myself craving some of Rachel's gingerbread.

A Cowboy for Christmas:

Carson Scott is a widower with a 6 year old son. His weekly dinner with his brothers takes a dramatic turn when he runs into Annie, his "one that got away". Annie had left Marietta 15 years earlier in search of bigger and better things and to chase her dreams of being a designer. But her dreams crashed when her husband was arrested and she discovered that he was just a con man. Annie is trying to discover what kind of woman she really is and put her life back together. There is instant attraction between Annie and Carson, but after she ran away from Marietta and Carson 15 years ago is there any chance of rebuilding a relationship? And is a relationship with Carson even what she wants?

I loved this book. The emotions, fear, and uncertainty were very real and it was like I was feeling them right along with Annie and Carson. Carson is a wonderful father and a very caring man. These characters were very easy to connect to and I was drawn in and completely invested in the outcome. I would have loved for the story to continue.

If she agrees to be foreman at the Circle C for one year, he'll deed the ranch back to her and her sisters. The deal seems too sweet at first—until Callan realizes Court has his eyes on something even more important to her than her family's land—her heart.

Christmas and Cowboys ..... what a great combination!!!!

Eight Christmas books all in the one Boxed Set and all involving Cowboys!!! What more could a girl ask for??

I thoroughly enjoyed all of these books. All are based around the Montana town of Marietta and all involve completely different characters.

Each story has the main character lost and looking for love - without really realising it. The amazing thing is that person who they are looking for is under their very nose. Yes there has been drama and tragedy in each of their lives, but it is this that makes each story more enjoyable and a place of escape for the reader.

The writing styles of each individual author is free and easy to read. They bring the reader in to experience different emotions throughout their stories. There's frustration, anger, sorrow, laughter and joy found in each of the eight novels. I enjoyed reading each and every one of them for that reason.

There is absolutely no way that you can't get into the Christmas holiday spirit reading these novellas. Jane Porter's giant Christmas tree made tears fall from my eyes and flow down my cheeks, it was just such a touching idea to include in a book.

I have enjoyed these books so much that I have gone on to purchase some of them and the other books in their series.

I was given a copy of this boxed set in return for an honest review by A Kiss Down Under Book Group.

Definitely FIVE STARS.

I read all of these books as they were released and loved them all!

Come Home for Christmas, Cowboy by Megan Crane Christina and Dare have been unhappy for a while so she packs up her car and heads home for Christmas. Dare goes home to find she is gone so he goes after her. So while at her grandparents home they find they still love each other but it takes a talk with her uncle who owns Grays Saloon in Marietta to make Dare realize he wants to make it work with Christina and build a family.

A Cowgirls Christmas Love, love this book. Callan's story is maybe the best one of them all. Her love for the ranch made the story and then to find out that she and her sisters are not who they thought they was was better. Callan was hard on Court at first but slowly warmed up to him then when she found out Court was going to give her the ranch back she realized she is in love with him.

A Sweet Montana Christmas I have loved this whole Christmas series and this title didn't disappoint. Austin goes to his grandfathers home after his business fails, meanwhile his wife returns to her mothers after a work incident goes bad. She finally decides to reunite with Austin to tell him she is expecting a child and they decide to participate in a family Christmas tradition all while falling back in love and liking to live a simpler life.

Christmas at Copper Mountain:

Brock Sheenan is a widow who chooses not to celebrate Christmas. Harley applies for a housekeeping job working for Brock, because she figures it would be the best way to avoid her family and friends around the holidays. Harley is also a widow and she figures this is the perfect way to get over her grief. Read this story to find out what happens with Brock and Harley.

Come Home for Christmas Cowboy:

This is a wonderful Christmas story by a new author to me. Dare has many demons from his past, and his wife Christina tried for years to be there for him. Finally after being pushed away she leaves him. Will they find their way back to each other?

A Cowgirls Christmas:

This was an amazing story by CJ Carmichael. I now have to read the rest of the Circle C Series.

A Cowboy For Christmas:

I really enjoyed this story. Annie & Carson dated in their teen years. Annie always felt she had to leave their small town of Montana, leaving Carson behind. Many years later she returns. What will happen with Carson and Annie?

Blame The Mistletoe:

This author is another new one for me. I loved this story. I always believe that everyone deserves a second chance at happiness. Blake is a divorced single dad, and Liz is a divorced single mom. Will these two find love in each other?

Mistletoe Wedding:

I loved this story. This is the first that I have read by Melissa, and you better believe that I will be reading more. Ty is a bachelor who vows never to have children or get married. Meg is a divorced single mom who will always put her daughter first.

A Sweet Montana Christmas:

I am loving all of these Christmas stories. It's really getting me in the mood for Christmas. This was an amazing story. You better believe I will be reading the rest of this series. Austin and Mel have had some trouble during their marriage. Austin left to care for his families farm, Mel didn't follow him, instead she went to her mother's house. Will it take a Christmas Miracle to get these two together again?

Her Mistletoe Cowboy:

This story was absolutely amazing. Ivy came to Montana to clear her head. She wanted to spend Christmas alone. She wasn't expecting to see Rhett. Rhett was dealing with his own issues. I will be reading the rest of this series.
