Stacie says

Silly and fun book.

---

Bonnie Jean says

Just as fun as I remembered it from my childhood. My kindergartener adored it- and as a bonus, it's evidently one of the first books we've read where there was an extensive use of last names, so it lead to a useful discussion about calling people "Mr." "Mrs." and "Ms." as well as why they are the "five little Popsnorkles"

Noelle Jensen, Age 6 says

It's perfect!

---

Lisa says

This book is fantastic. It is all so funny... this is my all-time favorite Daniel Pinkwater story. "It's a lovely shade of blue."

RobesonBoys says

A bunch of silly things that a car becomes (dinosaur, elephant) brought on lots of giggles from everyone here.

---

Susan says

Love it!

---

Call Me Jesse says

Its a great children's book, best when read with animated voices, you have to do it the same every time, otherwise It bothers me, and you have to count the correct number of 'yay's!'(one for every little pop-snorkel). No longer in print so you better get it online somewhere. Man this is a great book.

Teresa Gashler says

This book is brilliant! I especially love the illustrations by Pinkwater himself.

Stiv_Matters says

This book is a lot of fun to read to a toddler. The Popsnorkel family goes to the car dealer to buy a new car and they test drive the Tooth Gnasher Superflash which can do all kinds of things one doesn't usually expect a car to do. Lots of opportunities to use different voices and when the car turns into a dinosaur, elephant, etc., my daughter loves jumping up and down on the bed and acting out the different creatures. As a parent, I have to read a lot of children's books and this is one of my favorites.

Kelly says

Typical Pinkwater weirdness. The best part of the book is the family's name...Popsnorkle. Classic!

Hot Cup O'Monkey says

Synopsis: "The Popsnorkle family decides that the old family car is ready to give up the ghost. The whole family, Mr. Popsnorkle, Mrs. Popsnorkle,. and the five little Popsnorkles head down to the car dealerships to look at new cars. They fall in love with the Tooth-Gnasher Superflash and discover on the test drive that it can turn into a dinosaur, an elephant, a turtle, and a chicken, much to the dismay of the car salesman, Mr. Sandy. They trade in the old car and give Mr. Sandy a lot of money and drive away in their new car."

This was one of my children's favorites back in the 1980s. The author, Daniel Pinkwater, was not only a superb writer and illustrator, but I loved his commentaries on NPR. Daniel Pinkwater, I miss you!

Steven Kent says

Yes, I am giving this the sacred FIVE-STAR rating. It's short, it's sweet, it's hilarious, and it is my all-time favorite kid's book. I know, I have broken a taboo by placing it over all the works of Dr. Seuss.
