~ 4 Yours For Eternity Stars ~

I read this book a long time ago. It got me interested in reading Hannah Howell and Alexandria Ivy's books, unfortunately I did not enjoy Kaitlin O'Riley's story. At the time I read this I was not reviewing, now I am and have re-read Yours For Eternity. I loved Highland Blood & Taken by Darkness. I could not bring myself to re-read Immortal Dreams. Each story takes place in the past and they don't play a part in the series, so easily they can stand alone. If you have not tried out the Guardians of Eternity by Alexandria Ivy or the MacNachton Vampire by Hannah Howell, then this will give you a great taste of the series and writing by these two authors.

5/5 Stars - Highland Blood by Hannah Howell

This is part of Hannah Howell's MacNachton Vampire series, but can be read as a standalone. I loved re-visiting these characters. It has wet my appetite to go back and re-read this series. Even though this series and story are in the past I still enjoyed it. I'm not big on historical reads, but something about Hannah Howell's writing makes it pleasurable. I like the spin she does on her Vampires. It's intriguing and different. Both characters work well together and you feel the love and understanding.

5/5 Stars - Taken by Darkness by Alexandra Ivy

This is part of Alexandra Ivy's Guardians of Eternity series. It does not play a part in the series and can stand alone. We get to meet Victor our Clan Chef in London and Juliet his mate. Juliet and Victor make an appearance in one of the earlier books and I was curious on how they hooked up. We get action, attraction and humor. Levet of course is in this and we get all the usual humor he brings with him. I loved revisiting the Guardians of Eternity world and this line was my favorite: "My home is here...in your heart. And nothing absolutely nothing, could please me more."

2/5 Stars - Immortal Dreams by Kaitlin O'Riley

I tried, but could not bring myself to re-read or finish this one again. Did not like it the first time around. I don't like women who can't make their own decisions and who are fainting lily's. Immortal Dreams was not for me. If the blurb intrigues you, I urge you to give it a shot. Just because it did not work for me does not mean it won't for you.

Hannah Howell- Highland Blood- Adeline rescues a little boy after seeing the mother leaving him in the woods for the beasties to eat. She is quick to find out Osgar is not a regular child when he bites her wrist. After two years and a 3rd attempt on Osgar's life, Adeline packs up and heads to the Highlands where she heard Osgar's kinsmen on his father's side live. She meets Lachann on the way.

Alexandra Ivy- Taken by Darkness- Includes a character from the Guardians of Eternity series, Levet. Story is about Juliet and Victor.

Kaitlin O'Riley- Immortal Dreams- Grace dreams of Phillip more and more. It is her but in a different time and place. Then she see's the man of her dreams in person at a ball. She has just agreed to marry another to get away from her Mother-in-Law who blames Grace for the death of her saintly son.

Laura the Highland Hussy says

"Highland Blood" by Hannah Howell-4 stars.

Definitely her best work yet, no doubt. It ended a bit abruptly, but I loved the red-haired "witch" (healer) who saved and tried to rear a vampire halfling. And after a couple years, when she realized he needed more than she could give, she tried to find the MacNachton clan...and did. But not before she got chased down by the Hunters (humans who feel they're doing God's work by exterminating the vampires). That's when our hero stepped in and saved her and the little boy. You can guess the rest :)
Sweet story, great action.

Alexandra Ivy's "Taken by Darkness"-5 stars

Fantastic addition to her series. Anyone who has read her Guardians of Eternity series will love this. It's about Dante's brother, but this takes place in the 1800s.

Very cool story about a vampire who meets a woman who is his mate, but he's in denial about it so he cavorts in Italy for 6 months before returning to London.

She is the only woman who has ever said no to him, and he intends to persuade her otherwise.

Love the story-loved it!

"Immortal Dreams" by Kaitlin O'Riely-4 stars

I loved this story. I absolutely loved the vampire still looking for his long lost soul mate. Beautifully written, and I will definitely read this author again.

So why not a 5 star you ask? I'll tell you.

At the end, Grace's controlling and tyrant of a mother-in-law never "got hers" so-to-speak. She had Grace committed for crying out loud! And Grace and Phillip just escaped like thieves in the night. It was soo unsatisfying an ending I bumped the story down a full star! gr...I'd have LOVED her MIL to have at least been kicked out. When Grace actually stood up to Mary, I was like "Finally! This is what we've been waiting for!" But the story itself and the love was sweet and beautiful.

Andrea Krka says

"That I may have a lot more than fifty years with ye?" She laughed and hugged him. "Oh, Lachann, 'tis wondrous. I shall have years and years and years to love ye. Could anything be more wonderful!" He smiled down at her. "Nay, love, nothing could be more wonderful than years of loving ye and being loved by ye. I look forward to every one of them."

Highland Blood

HANNAH HOWELL

With a smooth motion, he swept her off her feet, headed for their bed. The cold emptiness that had claimed his soul centuries ago was melting beneath the tender heat of her gaze.

“You will never leave me?” “I am yours, Marquis DeRosa,” she promised, “until the end of time.” He tightened his arms around her. “Until the end of time and beyond.”

Taken by Darkness

“Please,” Grace whispered softly, echoing the words Gráinne had uttered to him a century ago. “Make me what you are.”

This is part of MacNachton Vampire with Hannah Howell - RECOMMENDED reading order:

1. The Eternal Highlander (2004) (with Lynsay Sands)
2. Highland Vampire (2005) (with Adrienne Basso and Deborah Raleigh)
3. My Immortal Highlander (2006) (with Lynsay Sands)
4. Highland Thirst (2007) (with Lynsay Sands)
5. Nature of the Beast (2008) (with Adrienne Basso and Eve Silver)
6. Highland Beast (2009) (with Victoria Dahl, Heather Grothaus)
7. Yours For Eternity (2010)(with Alexandra Ivy and Kaitlin O'Riley)
8. Highland Hunger (2011) (with Jackie Ivie and Michele Sinclair)

Goodreads library, you really need to fix this.

Cheers!

Warm and felling

Hannah Howell is one of the best. Just like some others, I read her books over and over ,just how good I have her books in paper back on my kindle ,give her a try you want be sorry.

Cherie says

I bought this one to continue my reading of Hannah Howell's series of MacNachton vampires. "Highland Blood" stars Lachann MacNachton and Adeline Dunbar. Adeline has been taking care of a baby who was left to die in the woods by its mother because the father was a MacNachton. She is trying to get the now five year old to Cambrun keep, home of the MacNachtons as she is finding it too difficult to keep the boy safe. She is fierce in her protection of Osgar (I struggled with that name). As with the previous short stories this one is complete and not rushed.

"Taken by Darkness" was more paranormal than just vampires. It has a gargoyle and a Jinn in addition to vampires. I don't normally read this genre so I struggled to understand their characteristics but the story was well written. I loved Juliet and the merry dance she orchestrated with Victor.

"Immortal Dreams" was very interesting. It is a story of immortality and reincarnation. Phillip and Grace were lovers in the past but her parents disapproved and before they could run away together she was put on a ship which then capsized and she died. Phillip is a vampire so he waits decades for her spirit to reappear as she is his "mate". When her spirit is reborn he keeps close and negotiates a marriage between them. This love story is so well written that you will feel his heartache. It was brilliantly done. Grace changing her mind as she understands that she has been reborn and Phillip is the love in her dreams was not as convincingly written. I also wish the mother-in-law had been sent to an insane asylum or something worthy of her villainy.

Three novellas in one.

"Highland Blood" by Hannah Howell

When Adeline Dunbar finds an abandoned baby on her doorstep, she sets out to find his clan. Attacked by a group of demon hunters, Adeline tries to flee her rescuer, vampire Lachann MacNachton. But escaping Lachann proves useless--as does denying the primal hunger he stirs deep within her. . .

The vampires can eat, drink, and procreate. Their blood-need is a curse only hinted at in this story. What the author does is bring you into the lives of Adeline, Osgar her "found" son, and Lachann or the clan MacNachton. Osgar is an endearing, and very bright boy who speaks older than his five years. Of course, he may easily speak of some adult things but in just a few seconds he plays with his cats, or stones, and twigs as any Highland 5-year old might.

Adeline is a strong, Highland lass, a Healer: which means as long as her village needs what she does, she is tolerated. A witch's death awaits her if/when she is no longer needed.

Lachann is a Highlander from a very strong, and united clan that wants their numbers to survive. That is being threatened. Lachann is away from the fortress that protects the MacNachtons looking for "The Lost Ones" children whose parents were MacNachton. Unfortunately for many the result was a grim one.

"Taken by Darkness" by Alexandra Ivy

The daughter of a witch, Juliet Lawrence has inherited magical powers--powers that could be quite useful to

Victor, Marquess DeRosa, London's most powerful vampire. But that's not all Victor desires of Juliet. He wants the unpredictable beauty in his bed--and he is accustomed to getting what he wants. . .

A good story but mostly forgotten by me by the time I reached the end. Juliet and Victor are on the fringes of the main vampires in the Guardians of Eternity series.

"Immortal Dreams" by Kaitlin O'Riley

Beautiful widow Grace Sutton is haunted by recurring dreams of a past life and a mysterious, handsome stranger. When Grace meets Stuart Phillips, Lord Radcliffe--the vampire who has been searching for her for over a century--her sensual dreams soon come true in the most unforgettable way. . .

A beautiful step back into the time of the Regency. Grace is not demonstrative in her thoughts; she has been doing her best to be a "proper lady of the times". She married, but now she is widowed and she lives in the same house as her over-bearing mother-in-law. Grace longs for escape, and it seems that her very realistic dreams offer this, but then she falls in love with the mysterious man of her dreams, and her thoughts, kept so long in straight laces and corsets, are yearning to be let out.

Then, there arrives Lord Radcliffe and Grace discovers that dreams CAN become reality.

Hannah Howell...

Her book was good. I am only disappointed that her vampire books are always anthology books or cowritten with other people. All of her vampires are about very poor scottish people (men, women & children) & the conversations are very, uh.., what's the word?, well, it is written with the thick dialect that takes much longer to get through because you almost need to interpret it.

He vampires are on the hunt for the half breeds living among the humans. Most humans are mean to them or try to kill the children because they are demon spawns... That's the gist in each story, but each story is about a different vampire & the people they save. It was really descriptive and the storyline was a nice easy flow, with action of being hunted accepted & mated/loved.

Alexandra Ivy...

Hers was the best, but I think it was close between Hannah Howells and Alexandra Ivy. Hers is written in more modern tones even though it is a historical story about Victor & Juliet. Victor is the lord of the Vampire clan in London. Juliet is half witch & Imp, I think imp was also implied as being some kind of fae. It went along with her series & Both Juliet & Victor had to save the famous gargoyles "Levet".

Kaitlin O'Riley...

It was ok, but it just didn't flow as well to me as the others. The other 2 were highly descriptive & this one was not. Don't get me wrong, it was descriptive, just not as much or as good as the other 2 stories.

This one was about a woman Grace who in a previous life was in love with a vampire. He didn't change her before she was whisked off by her parents to live in a convent & she drowned at sea. He found her through her dreams.

She lives with a crazy religious finatic mother-in-law who wants her to marry a nice religious man. I just can't do religious finatic stuff because I live in the south with the crazy people too. It's just way too annoying.

All in All...

I give it a 4 star rating because it was worth the read even though the last story wasn't so enjoyable, the book itself was worth the half price purchase of $7 at Borders going out of business sale.

Felicia says

I read this anthology because I am reading Alexandra Ivy's Guardians of Eternity this has a short story to be read after book 6 Beyond the darkness. Levet mentions in the 6th book he had ran into Jinn before and in this short story we go back in time and to England where he has befriended Juliet and when he ends up in trouble then her mate and her help out. So again poor Levet is the friend to woman crazy enough to love a vampire. While reading this short book I read the other two stories is this book. they were really good. Hannah Howell's goes along with her Highland Vampire series I think although I read those books I hadn't read this one so I'm not sure if it goes with them or not but it's along the same "vain" if not. Then Kaitlin O'Riley I have never read before but this short defiantly was good enough that I added some of her books to my list of books to read so I can see how good her other books are. Ok when now I am going to read my of the Guardians of Eternity by Alexandra Ivy- they are awesome books.

Vanessa theJeepDiva says

I give all 3 separate stories 3 stars. I bought the book so I could continue following the Alexandra Ivy Guardians of Eternity series. Taken by Darkness (Ivy's) does not really play a role in the series. Levet is the only character in common with the novels. All 3 stories in this book are historical. I am not a fan of historical. The stories are interesting & wrote well. I just feel I could have not bought this book & carried on reading the Guardians of Eternity books without missing out on anything. I have never read the other 2 authors that are featured in the book. I must say even though it was historical I really enjoyed Kaitlin O'Rileys Immortal Dreams. It was a sweet story of a past life/vampire love.

Les Chroniques Aléatoires says

A l'origine si j'ai lu cette anthologie, comme c'est souvent le cas, c'était surtout pour une personne en particuliers : Alexandra Ivy. Puis je me suis dit que cela pourrait valoir le coup de lire les deux autres nouvelles et j'ai vraiment bien fait, car à mon avis, elles sont bien meilleures que celle d'Alexandra justement ! Pas de déceptions pour le coup, plutôt de belles découvertes et l'envie de lire une nouvelle saga. Que demander de plus ?

Highland Blood (MacNachton Vampire t7) de Hannah Howell : Mon coup de cœur de cette anthologie, je regrette seulement de ne pas avoir eu l'opportunité de lire cette saga depuis ses débuts, mais que cela ne tienne ! On suit les aventures d'Adeline, la sorcière de la forêt, admirée et craint à la fois, une paria du village qui recueille un nourrisson qu'on a voulu laisser pour mort car il serait le rejeton d'un démon. En effet, Osgar est loin d'être un simple petit garçon, mais il est aussi loin d'être le diable tel qu'il est décrit. C'est un garçon joyeux, généreux et loyal, il aimerait seulement être accepté pour lui-même et connaître ses origines. Malheureusement, son pouvoir de guérison le trahit, poussant sa mère adoptive et lui à la fuite. Puis le destin les a poussé sur la route de Lachann, un des vampires du clan McNachton qui est à la recherche des enfants perdus tels qu'Osgar. Ce qu'il n'avait pas prévu, c'était de tomber amoureux de la femme courageuse et hors du commun qu'est Adeline. J'ai totalement accroché au couple, il fonctionne du tonnerre. L'univers fantasy dans lequel ils vivent me fascinent et j'ai vraiment d'en savoir davantage, surtout que l'on vient à découvrir les autres membres du clan sur la fin. Un excellent mélange de fantasy et de fantastique comme on en trouve peu de nos jours.

Taken by Darkness (Les Gardiens de l'Eternité t6.5) d'Alexandra Ivy : La chronique ne sera pas bien longue étant donné que comme la plupart des nouvelles en supplément d'une série, celle-ci atteint à peine les 80 pages de long. Il n'empêche que l'histoire est attrayante et se déroule avec rythme, sans fioritures et garde le lecteur en haleine. Au début on peut se demander pourquoi l'auteure a-t-elle fait une histoire sur Juliet et Victor (même si elle est très bien), on ne comprend pas le lien avec ce qu'il se passe après le volume de Salvatore. A ce moment précis, la seule chose en commun qu'il y ait, c'est Levet (qui a toujours la côte auprès des filles mais pas des vampires). L'action se déroule 200 ans plus tôt à Londres, avec une hybride de sidhe et de sorcière qui a des pouvoirs particuliers et extrêmement convoités par les démons. De plus, elle est belle et a un caractère plutôt trempé. Face à elle, le maître du clan de vampires de la ville de Londres, est beau, ténébreux, puissant et sophistiqué. Au premier abord, on se dit qu'ils n'ont rien en commun et pourtant c'est un couple qui se complète. Je ne peux pas en dire plus sinon vous n'auriez plus aucune surprise et surtout cette histoire est très importante car elle est en lien direct avec le volume 7. Vous comprendrez le lien de cette nouvelle avec la série uniquement en lisant le récit de Tane mais ceux qui se débrouillent en anglais, je vous conseille vivement de lire Taken by Darkness avant. Bonne lecture à tous et à très bientôt pour le tome suivant =)

Immortal Dreams de Kaitlin O'Riley : Encore une belle découverte avec cette romance paranormale et historique de Kaitlin O'Riley, une auteure qui m'était inconnue. On commence l'histoire de plein pied dans la partie historique avec une jeune veuve maltraitée par sa belle-mère et que l'on pousse à se remarier. Elle a du mal à se faire au suicide de son époux, sans parler des rêves érotiques qu'elle fait depuis des années et qui reviennent en force. Jusque là tout semble normal, sauf que certains de ses rêves lui semblent familiers, comme s'ils étaient de sa vie précédente, jusqu'au jour où elle croise le chemin de son fantasme dans la vie réelle. Grace est une jeune femme complexe, rendue timorée par son temps et sa belle-mère plus qu'autoritaire et exécrable, elle reprend confiance en elle peu à peu. Phillip est tout le contraire et cela s'explique par le fait que c'est un vampire qui recherche son âme-sœur depuis bien des années. Entre complot, relation sulfureuse et réincarnation, on ne s'ennuie pas un seul instant. De plus, le tout est écrit d'une plume épurée et agréable à suivre.
