at first i was very hesitant to buy this book (i found it at a thrift store for 50 cents...) because it looked so hokey and i thought people would judge me seeing it on my book shelf next to all my other trendy reads.

but after a long moments hesitantce, i decided fuck what all my hipster friends thought. the price was right and i have a secret obsession with fact books and i definitely loved it.

its filled with all kinds of random goodies and nuggets of interesting knowledge. and its just a really great read for people who love random facts and pointless bits of information like i do.

and it is now proudly sitting on my shelf next to all the books i bought at urban outfitters last weekend. ;)

Deborah Scott says

Great book with tons of trivia---a fun read

Chickens McShiterson says

Too good to just leave or read in the bathroom.

Joseph F says

This book is certainly full of ah-some facts! Standing at 522 pages, this edition to the series has all you could want from the series! The variety is perhaps even greater than before and you probably won't get board! It also has so articles on video games which I obviously enjoyed! If you like information and have some time on your hands, this book is for you!

Marsha says

A neighbor of mine would classify this book as a huge volume for your "Gee Whiz" file. Things like, "There are as many cells in your brain as there are stars in the galaxy" or "How many toothpicks can you make from one cord of wood?...75 million". It has a great section on the great San Fransisco Earthquake of 1906. Wonderful reading!

Anh Le says

LOLOLOL This is your best companion in the bathroom with a lot of entertaining and digestible (pun intended) read. This edition has some heavy reference to US pop culture however (about a fourth of it)-- so some stories aren't quite clicking.

But I'm buying "Plunge into History" next. As Uncle John says, "go with the flow"!

Tom Darrow says

Solid bathroom reader.

Jessica says

Just as entertaining, funny, and addictive as the other books in the series. You're guaranteed to learn plenty of new, interesting facts.

Brian says

I've read all 25! Love them!

Molly says

The entire Uncle John series is addicting and has single-handedly lead to many incidents of me "holding up the line" to the bathroom.

Alina says

always a pleasure to read a bri book. you have to love them all :D

Shasta says

These bathroom readers are HILARIOUS. They are just filled with random facts...and just plain funny stuff!!!

Susie Evans says

Good stuff...great for when you need reading material for 30 seconds at a time. :O)
