Summer Applebaum says

Best books to use to teach your child how to read. I had my son read 15 minutes each day and he was reading on his own with in a few weeks:)

Tiffany says

When my daughter transferred to an academically-focused preschool, we were pleasantly surprised to be introduced to the Bob Book Series. She began with Set 1 knowing very few sight words. But we read the books every day, and before we knew it, she had mastered sets 1-5 by the end of the year! Over the summer, she mastered the Kindergarten and First Grade sets as well. We also purchased the Level 1 books for her, and she LOVES them. We had her tested with the WJ-III the week before Kindergarten, and she was already reading at a first grade, seven month level! Her teacher already has her reading to the class, and she aced the examination they give the children the first week of the Kindergarten to track their progress over the course of the year. If you are committed to reading with your child every day, the Bob Book sets will give them an advantage over their peers.

This year, I started my three year old on Set One, and she has already mastered the first few books! When she began preschool this year, her teacher gave her the "Break-Out Student" award the first week of school, because she was already a more advanced reader than most of the four-year-olds. If you are looking for a book series to get your child reading, this is the way to go!

Stephanie Snyder says

One of our family's favorite early readers .
A fun read.
A great choice for every parents bookshelf.

Stacey says

Went through twice with my son. The 2nd time he can remember most of the words. It is a very good tool as a beginning reader

Lindsey says

We practice one boom a week (for a short time everyday). The flash cards help to practice the sight words outside of the little books, so it isn't just memorizing the book. The flash cards do have two sides though, one with just the sight word, and the other with a sentence and picture from the book to help the child recognize the words. It's a great tool for a beginner reader.

Michelle says

My 6 year old loves this book set!

Kellie says

My four-year-old boys have been interested in letter sounds and sounding out words. We chose these books for them to experiment with, and have been very pleased with the results. They like that the books are short and have basic words, using mostly short vowel sounds. One book is about all they have the patience for now, but the number of included books allows for more reading options (2 or 3 books in a sitting) as their skills improve. Because there are multiple books in the box, and they can sound out the words themselves, they can read simultaneously, instead of one waiting for his turn with mom. Makes for a nice addition to our usual storytime. Their reading confidence grows daily and I'm seeing smiles, so I heartily recommend this set.

Cheryl says

Highly recommend!!!! These simple yet engaging books will have your child reading in no time! I really like that they come with sight word cards. My son looks forward to "playing school" and reading these little books together, and I like that he is learning new words and having what he already knows reinforced through this motivating series.

Lucas says

I liked the "The Old Truck" book. I liked that the old truck got new and clean at the end. I didn't like that she spilled paint. I wish they would have told me that she was playing with the truck all day long. They should have had pizza. I liked "The Sled" book too. I liked that Ruff went on the sled with Mag. But I didn't like it when nobody was playing with him. I thought they were being mean. - Lucas, age 5

Steven R. McEvoy says

The Bob Books are a series of boxed sets designed to help develop skills at different levels and complexities. They are designed to grow with a child as their skills in reading improve. There are 10 books in this specific boxed set:

Mat Hid

Hop

The Jet

Who?

As Big As Milk
She Did It
Frog Sat
The Trip
Sun Sets

30 Flash Cards of the 30 sights words:

a , as, can, did, do, down, fly, get, go, goes, had, has, home, in, is, jump, look, not, off, on, over, ran, saw, she, some, they, to, was, went, who

The tools combined in this box set are a real aide in helping a child grow and develop their reading skills. The focused repetitions between the flash cards, and the same words being a big focus in the books, is a well designed and planned tool.

Sophie loved these and read them well past memorization.

Walter Walker says

I found this book and thought it would be a great tool for teaching vocabulary. Simple words that kids can sound out help with phonological awareness. I would recommend this book for kids through kindergarten.

Gaia Westworth says

Good for little kids

Kristina says

I highly recommend this set. My six year old was finishing up Kindergarten and still having trouble reading. He kept saying it was too hard. The Bob Books have really given him confidence. we made a game out of the sight words flash cards and now he can't wait to go to the library and pick out a new set of Bob books.

Hannah says

This is a great box set of simple stories for emergent readers. There are 20 books in the set with each one getting progressively more difficult. Each book introduces 3 new sight words. It comes with some flashcards and stickers as well. 10$ at Costco, awesome!
